Clackamas Federal Credit Union Celebrates New Branch Location with Membership Promotions and Ribbon Cutting Ceremony
The convenient location and community support increases CFCU membership

(Molalla, Ore.), July 19, 2007—Clackamas Federal Credit Union celebrated the opening of its fifth branch on June 11, with a week of festivities at the new location in Molalla.

The opening ceremonies featured a ribbon cutting by Molalla Mayor, Tom Foster. Employees rewarded more than 75 attendees with tickets to Molalla's famed Buckaroo rodeo, Starbucks gift cards and refreshments. Visitors and new members also received prizes throughout the week. The convenience of the new branch has resulted in more than 200 new accounts.

The new facility provides the same products and services as all of the CCFCU branches, including an on-site ATM and night depository. The 375 square foot branch offers a 42-inch LCD flat panel display that shows current promotions, stock market updates, news and weather. There are two teller windows and two ADA compliant desks. Services include free basic checking and savings accounts, a variety of loan options and credit cards. CCFCU also provides members with access to an auto services representative to assist members with vehicle purchases and loans, and an investment and insurance center representative to counsel members on a large variety of financial investment options.

“We were very pleased with the community response during the grand opening week,” said Hannah Faulhaber, Molalla assistant branch manager. “We hope to sustain and increase our new membership numbers as more Molalla residents realize this branch provides a convenient location to manage their finances.”
